Jennifer McLean:

Hello everyone. Welcome to Predictions Week 2022, we are here on session 11 of 12. Boy, what an amazing week we've had. We have gone for it. We have played deeply. We have really created a vibration of possibility. I really believe this. We have created this vibration, foundation of possibility through all the speakers, amazing perspectives on what this year holds for us, most of which we're very energetically inspired.

Jennifer McLean:

Wow, I just feel so blessed that I get to be here with all of you. I'm glad that you said, "Yes." I'm glad that you came in for the co-creation. I'm glad that you're here. I'm also glad that it's coming to an end. I've enjoyed every second of it, but it has definitely been an interesting ride to play full out during my little spell of COVID here.

Jennifer McLean:

I am glad that this beautiful energy, as beautiful as it is, is completing for at least my part. The replays will be posted until tomorrow, end of the day. You still have some time to listen to this stuff. A little bird is telling me that it might be important to reopen this. I likely will. Watch for that.

Jennifer McLean:

Now, today, one of my dearest, most closest, most loving, bestest friends, Dee Wallace is here with us. Dee is just the most beautiful soul. I love her so much. She has gotten a hold of my heart and is not going to let go anytime soon. She is a profound channeller and healer. She has spent decades developing a remarkable healing model that is designed to work deeply in the core energy systems of the psyche to encourage the profound and instant release and it's real.

Jennifer McLean:

You guys are getting experience today and you're going to shake your head in wonder, in a good way. Dee delivers this powerful model each month with us on MasterWorks Healing, as well as with the many thousands of souls that she works within her own www.iamdeewallace.com site. These amazing sessions are often filled with laughter.

Jennifer McLean:

They'll often be really unique takes on things that even surprises her sometimes as the channel brings it through. You're going to experience all this and a significant shift in the way you see the world through her amazing work. Dee is also a very well-known actress. She's best known for her portrayal of the mother in the Steven Spielberg's Academy Award-winning movie, E.T.

Jennifer McLean:

Also, she played the mother in Cujo. She played many mothers, many daughters, many sisters. She played many witches. She is an astonishing actress with incredible talent. She works very, very hard to this very day. Every so often, you'll switch on the channel and there's Dee! Dee uses her whole life.

Jennifer McLean:

She actually discovered her healing system by being an acting teacher. She's an amazing and very renowned acting teacher. She learned a few things about emotions by witnessing her students that helped her to develop this. Thank you for listening to that Dee and now bringing us your amazing gifts. Welcome to Predictions Week as a part of MasterWorks Healing. Welcome.

Dee Wallace:

Well, if my heart wasn't open, it'd sure open after that introduction. Jennifer, I love you so much. I'm so happy to be here. I was supposed to start off the series.

Jennifer McLean:

That's right.

Dee Wallace:

Now, I'm going to close out the series.

Jennifer McLean:

That's right.

Dee Wallace:

So, I figured any book end works, right?

Jennifer McLean:

You betcha, you're a good book end too. Boy, that's the best book end, I know, indeed.

Dee Wallace:

Let me tell you guys, you are so lucky to have found this site and this work and everything that Jennifer brings forward and all the people she brings forward. It's life-changing.

Jennifer McLean:

What goodies have you brought forward today, Dee Wallace?

Dee Wallace:

Well, I've got a lot, Jenn. Everybody, please stop what you're doing and focus because you can't get what I'm going to give you right now, while you're doing the dishes or other things that you put your attention on. The channel started out by saying, "Look, nothing is definitive in what we are predicting because our consciousness is determining and changing so quickly now, all the time."

Dee Wallace:

How that works is we are electrical beings. They measure our heart through electrocardiograms, our brain through electroencephalograms. Every time we have a feeling or a thought, there is an electrical signal that shoots through our body and out into the universe, which is, guess what, electromagnetic. Think of you tuning in to your favorite TV show.

Dee Wallace:

You have to turn on the TV and then you have to go to the channel, the channel that carries the program so that you can see the program you are intending to see. The same thing works with the universe. You have to send out the signal you want if you are going to tune in to the life you want.

Dee Wallace:

What happens is everybody sends out a signal about numerous things. Well, let's use COVID, for example, since it's up in the world right now. But the primary signal, and that means most energy, the most number of people are sending out the signal, "everybody has it." You don't want to buy into that because what happens is, if the majority of energy is sending out that signal, that affects the collective consciousness.

Dee Wallace:

The collective consciousness then becomes powerful in its domination of what signal is affecting us. If you are not extremely conscious that you create yourself, that signal can come in and hit your energetic system. What happens then is more people get on board with that belief and we send out more signals. Then, that becomes the mass consciousness, which in turn decides what happens this year around COVID.

Dee Wallace:

Now, this is new, this is just coming in right now. They're saying we literally are in the midst of it now, where people are going, "Okay, screw this." Sorry, those are the words they're giving me, "Screw this. I'm over this. I'm done with this. We're not doing it anymore."

Dee Wallace:

Now, if all of us can hold on to what we want, which is freedom and health and energy and vitality and vibrance, then it goes away. If we keep focused on the COVID and everybody's getting it, then it lingers longer. You are more powerful than you know, around what you are creating in the world for the next year.

Dee Wallace:

That's why it is so incredibly important for you all to consciously create what you want, wherever the majority of the energy is, which I call the hundredth monkey. Whenever the majority of the energy rallies around one belief and sends out that signal, that will be what's created in our world in the next year.

Dee Wallace:

I got on early, I was listening to the, "I Am Light" song. That song is really important and I want to show you why. Let's say we're working on creating money. I want everybody to close their eyes and go to their hearts, and go to their love place and just say, "I am money." Be aware of what you're seeing.

Dee Wallace:

I would bet that most of you are seeing pictures that are outside of you. Money coming to you, gold on the floor, winning the lotto, whatever it is. Now, I want you to go back to your heart and focus on your inner light. That's where I want you to stay as you say, "I am money." You are literally the frequency of money. The first message I got when I started channeling was, "Use the light within you to heal yourself."

Dee Wallace:

Last week, I got the expanded understanding, which I just gave to you of what that is. Sounds pretty simple, but we are taught to see things manifesting outside of ourselves. I want you to know that everything starts within you. Right now, what I'm going to give you is the way things stand for the year 2022. You know, I get pretty specific about things.

Dee Wallace:

Regarding Trump, he will not regain office. His health is bad. Right now, I keep hearing that he's going to pass in some way, not necessarily this year, but it will keep him from running again. His power is waning in this country. Again, those of us who are focused on unity, love, balance, communication, fairness, and justice will help create the country we want, no matter who is in charge.

Dee Wallace:

This year, all injustice is brought to justice everywhere. Love reigns, but it may not be apparent at first. Again, you are the light within you, that creates love as a dominant force in this world. People will grow healthier. Herd immunity takes place, and they want us to know it could have and should have been done last year but the focus was on fear and not action.

Dee Wallace:

There is going to be or is a lot of psychological fallout, especially for our children. There will be new forms of therapy that are born because of this, that will help everyone. The biggest thing you can do is go to love. The economics and economies of the world will even out and countries will start working together because they have to. They wouldn't give me any more information than that, because they have to. Now, this was interesting.

Dee Wallace:

They are asking everybody to get rid of all your junk, clean out everything. It's affecting a lot of the flow of our energy, all this accumulation of, this is the word, "crap", that we're holding onto. They are asking us not to focus on Congress and the parties because they represent us. Focus on what you want. Don't focus on divisiveness, focus on unity.

Dee Wallace:

Especially, they are asking everyone to make decisions and focus on the greater good. They keep bringing it in and bringing it in and inputting stars around it, emphasizing it. We must come forward to make decisions for the greater good. If you are on the fence about anything, stop and say, "Which decision is serving the greater good more?" Regarding climate, unfortunately, it gets worse.

Dee Wallace:

According to the channel, we have five years to turn things around. Climate is a representation of our anger and our selfishness to only think of self. Again, they're pleading with us. Bring your thoughts and your actions to serving the common good. Focus on self-creation within the whole, which equals the consciousness of the world.

Dee Wallace:

A RAM gun-control, right now, we're on the wire. If the majority of energy decides right now, that they want more gun control and more civility in this country and the world, it will be created. Again, they're saying, "Focus on civility, order, love, and respect, not fear." Right now, the signals that are being sent out, are 60% for guns and 40% for gun-control and less guns in our environment.

Dee Wallace:

This is just incoming, right now. There is a lot of confusion about the Second Amendment because people don't understand it. I did a whole webinar around it if you want to find it on my website. But literally, the amendment never gave men the right to own guns and take law into their own hands. There's nothing in the original amendment that says that.

Dee Wallace:

Anything else around guns? Okay. Democracy will reign in our country this year and there will be many breakthroughs in healthcare. All right. Let me ask him, "Is there anything else that I didn't cover, that wasn't enough?" Okay, Jenn, I think I'm complete with what they wanted me to bring forward. I am complete. I am complete with what they wanted me to bring forward.

Jennifer McLean:

Wow, super cool. I love the details. Dee does this every year. She has been, I would say, about 90-95% accurate every year. Again, this is from the channel. She has no opinion, one way or the other. Well, she might have them, but she's not giving them in this content.

Dee Wallace:

Nope, I take me totally out of the equation.

Jennifer McLean:

She takes her totally out of this. And what I really appreciate is that for any challenges the channel has brought forward, our ability is shifted through our beliefs.

Dee Wallace:

That's the only way we're going to shift it, guys.

Jennifer McLean:

That's the only way. Yes.

Dee Wallace:

Only way. It's up to us.

Jennifer McLean:

And if we are disheartened or if we are, "Oh my God," or if you're a victim of any of this, that's the opposite of what they're recommending. Stand in your power, stand in love, trust the power of the love that you are, trust your creative ability, trust that your beliefs of the positive can overcome anything. Anything. And more and more people are starting to really get this. Many people are receiving these teachings. Just think about that. There are over 30,000 people right now that registered for Predictions Week that are receiving these teachings. Imagine in 1970 what that would've been like. Maybe 10?

Dee Wallace:

Yes.

Jennifer McLean:

Or the 1960s. I really want you to start to see the evidence that there's evidence that this material is getting through and there are millions, if not billions of people that are practicing it. It's up to us to contribute to that.

Dee Wallace:

And there's a wonderful book called Power Versus Force by David Hawkins. He talks about the fact that one person who lives in the vibration of love and the focus on love and joy and their knowing, does sway thousands of other people that pick up their signal.

Jennifer McLean:

Right. You guys can be the signal.

Dee Wallace:

Yes. Be the signal that you want in the world.

Jennifer McLean:

Be the signal. Be the change you're seeking to see. It's real. It's a great book, David Hawkins' Power Versus Force. It's real and it's expanding. That's the thing I want all of our minds to get. Even if we were doing it in a vacuum, we are contributing greatly, but we aren't. There are many, many, many billions of souls right now that are turning to this in part because they have to. Because whatever's working in their life isn't working, so they're trying to find a different way.

Jennifer McLean:

We've got this. What if that were true right now? What if you actually felt right now in your field, we've got this? We've got this. I can hear some of your minds saying, "Yeah, but we don't, but look what they're doing." I get it. By the way, that's what my mind sounds like. God, she's never shared that before. What are they doing? Right? That's what our minds might say. But just say, "Thanks mind. I get that there's evidence that that might be true, but we know in this moment a new truth, a more powerful truth, a renewed truth that we are more powerful than any of it." And what if we stood in that power just in this moment right now as accumulation of the thousands of people on here.

Jennifer McLean:

What if right now these thousands of people stood and said, "I believe in my power." What if you individually each do that right now? What do you think that might feel like if you could stand in your power right now, in your truth, in the truth that "I can make a difference by being love"? What do you think that might feel like if you could stand right now and day "I make a difference by being love. I make a difference by being love." What's that like? If that were true, what do you think that might feel like?

And I usually use that sentence in order for us to get there around the mind and when we get there, then we can claim it. "I'm love and I make a difference."

Jennifer McLean:

Let's start with 'what if'. What if that were true that I am love and I make a difference? What if that were true and you believed it? What do you think that might feel like in your field right now? I am love and I make a difference. There we go. There's a shift. Did you feel that Dee?

Dee Wallace:

Yes.

Jennifer McLean:

Now that that is a possibility of potential, even if it's just an inkling, that's enough. Now that that possibility and an inkling is what you feel, what does it feel like? And take the descriptive words and embrace them and breathe them in and allow them to expand. "I am love and I make a difference. I am love and I make a difference as that love." What does that feel like? Describe it to yourself. What does it feel like to you, Dee when you say, "I am love and I make a difference?"

Dee Wallace:

Oh, exciting.

Jennifer McLean:

Exciting.

Dee Wallace:

Exciting and happy and free. Freedom.

Jennifer McLean:

Yes, whatever your words are, breathe that into your field right now. Breathe it in. There we go. And those words are actually describing frequency, all a 'Power Versus Force.' This is power words. Love, light, freedom. There we go. And this energy here is a platform upon which we stand and we can change it all. No question, no doubt.

Dee Wallace:

You're so powerful guys. You're so, so powerful, but you have to accept it and claim it and put it into action.

Jennifer McLean:

Yes.

Dee Wallace:

Woo-hoo.

Jennifer McLean:

That was awesome. That felt really good. Thank you Dee for that. That was amazing words from the channel. Thank you. All right, let's dive into session work shall we?

Dee Wallace:

We shall. I know everybody wants to ask some personal questions, but I would like to encourage people to ask questions that will serve everybody. The state of the world, the state of anything.

Jennifer McLean:

For the greater good.

Dee Wallace:

The greater good. Exactly.

Jennifer McLean:

Oh, I love this idea. You can ask personal questions, but ask them from this energy of how it will serve the greater good. Is that okay?

Dee Wallace:

Yes.

Jennifer McLean:

Okay, great. Oh, I love that. I just want to sit in that energy for a moment. Let's do our intention right now. Everyone put their hand on their heart. Remember, it's the small actions that add up to make a big difference.

Jennifer McLean:

This is one of those small actions. Take it. Put your hand on your heart. We're going to hold an intention. Bring your full attention and intention to these words. Bring a level of presence and conviction to them and say to yourself after me, these exact words. You ready? Here we go. May the perfect people be chosen to work with Dee today so that I receive at the highest levels. There we go. Good. And now say it even with more conviction and presence, with your hand on your heart, these exact words to yourself. May the perfect people be chosen to work with Dee today, so that I get exactly what I need at this time. There we go. Let's do one more. With your hand on your heart, say to yourself, may the perfect people be chosen to work with Dee today so that the greater good is served. Wow, that one made me cry.

Dee Wallace:

Yeah, I'm with you, Jenn. Thank you for that.

Jennifer McLean:

That was really cool. Well, that was your channel thing and on my brain.

Dee Wallace:

Well, we're all one.

Jennifer McLean:

Indeed. Okay, Dee Wallace, would you pick a number from one to 271.

Dee Wallace:

70.

Jennifer McLean:

Okay, we're going to caller number 70. It looks like it's Florida. Hello.

Tina:

Hi guys. You'll never guess what, Dee, you got me last year.

Dee Wallace:

What? Oh, you're kidding. Oh my God, isn't that great? What's your name, honey?

Tina:

Tina.

Dee Wallace:

Yes, because I usually go to number seven and my channel said, "No, go to 70."

Tina:

Oh, my God.

Dee Wallace:

You called it in, baby.

Tina:

I hope so.

Dee Wallace:

What's your question?

Tina:

It's been one of those days. I've had a meltdown. I know this is supposed to be of the greater good, but when you gave me a reading last year, it was COVID time and I was supposed to get a procedure on my brain and then didn't get it because of COVID. Then my immune system melted down again and I've been dealing with that. I guess in a way, this is a greater good for anybody who has IBS or digestive problems.

Dee Wallace:

It's anybody that is attacking them self in any way. Because anytime you have an immune system problem, you are attacking yourself.

Tina:

Why? -

Dee Wallace:

Well, that's a good question. Let's ask. Give me a song. Any song that pops into your head.

Tina:

"Hey, Jude." Why is that?

Dee Wallace:

Well, "take a sad song and make it better." What sad story, what limiting definition do you keep telling yourself?

Tina:

Quite the contrary, actually. I keep telling myself, "Time to move. Time to get out of here. Time to renew yourself."

Dee Wallace:

No, no. Time to move. Time to get out of here. That's a judgment. It's time for you to already know you are free. Highest, most correct, most complete. It's time for you to claim and define yourself as free. I am the powerful God of me who is free. Because if you are not sending out that signal, you're sending out, "I'm stuck." "I have to keep trying. I have to keep struggling." You see, God said, "I am that I am." Meaning I have to proclaim that I am God and the creator. If I am God and the creator, I have to say it. I have to know it. That's what my light is. Well, we have to do the same thing. I am the powerful God of me who is free and who is love and who is harmony and who is peace. Not who's going to create it. Not who's looking for it. Not who's hoping for it.

Tina:

No, right now I'm just battling to stay alive. I've lost so much weight, I'm skin and bone.

Dee Wallace:

Okay, so you're focused on fear, aren't you?

Tina:

Nothing's working.

Dee Wallace:

Because darling, you are not working.

Tina:

No, not at all.

Dee Wallace:

But that's what I'm trying to get everybody... God, if you can get this concept today guys, you can turn your life around. It's within you. You have to know your health. Let's go to a core belief here: I don't think I have enough energy to do this.

Tina:

Right.

Dee Wallace:

Okay. Well, my darling, if you don't have enough energy to create health within you, who is going to do it for you?

Tina:

I don't know.

Dee Wallace:

Exactly.

Tina:

Because medical science can't figure out what was going on with me either.

Dee Wallace:

And what does this have to do with your mom? What did your mom teach you when you were little, about creating your own health?

Tina:

No, my mother wasn't a nurturer. If I fell down and scraped my knee, she'd tell me to apologize to the sidewalk.

Dee Wallace:

Well, my darling, that's the core. You're still making yourself pay for everything.

Tina:

Yes.

Dee Wallace:

Well, stop it. Nobody can change it, but you. They can keep giving you medicine, they can keep telling you...

Tina:

I can't take medicine. That's part of the problem. That's my immune system, I can't take medicine.

Dee Wallace:

Okay, but sweetheart, you keep arguing for your limitations and it's not going to help you. Bottom line. You have to love and embrace and acknowledge your own magnificence.

Tina:

I guess I don't believe I have it.

Dee Wallace:

So that you don't keep turning against yourself.

Jennifer McLean:

Yes, you're right. You nailed it, honey. You don't believe you have that. That's right. That is it. That's the core. When you turn that around, everything will change.

Dee Wallace:

Absolutely.

Tina:

I am not worthy. My mother told me I'm not worthy.

Jennifer McLean:

Well, how old are you now, honey?

Tina:

70 this year.

Jennifer McLean:

Right, you've had 70 years to get over your mom, right? My mom told me that too. My dad did too and I still get to work on that. But I now know my worth. It's time that you did too. Is she still on the planet?

Tina:

My mom? Hell no.

Jennifer McLean:

Yes. I mean, you're still going to let her run your life? I mean, cut it out.

Tina:

No. Be gone!

Dee Wallace:

Yes, but darling, that's what you're doing. That's exactly what you're doing. Your mother said, "Turn on yourself; don't acknowledge..."

Tina:

Yes, my fault...

Dee Wallace:

Well, but you're still doing it.

Jennifer McLean:

Yes, there's no sides here, honey. That's an indication. Those words are an indication. "It's my fault." Right? That's an indication of exactly the energy that you're describing. Nothing wrong with it, nothing bad, but it is an indication of where you're at, right? Your state of health, all our states of health, there is an indication of where our beliefs are at. All of them, all the time.

Dee Wallace:

All of them.

Tina:

I want to move to California. I want joy back in my life. I want happiness back in my life.

Jennifer McLean:

California's not going to give you joy.

Tina:

Well, Florida is definitely not going to give joy.

Jennifer McLean:

Florida's not going to give you joy. Italy's not going to give you joy.

Tina:

No, of course it will. That's where my babies are.

Jennifer McLean:

None of those will give you joy. You are responsible for your joy, Tina. You are. You are responsible for your joy. No one is going to give it to you.

Dee Wallace:

That's a great start to the show because everybody needed to hear that. Thank you so much for calling in.

Tina:

No, thank you.

Jennifer McLean:

Thank you, Tina. And you know, I'm holding you in prayer and love that you can start to see the love and prayer that you are.

Tina:

Thank you. I needed that.

Jennifer McLean:

Good. I got that you received that. I'm so happy you received that. And when you start doing that for yourself, things will change.

Tina:

Thank you.

Jennifer McLean:

Thank you, Tina much my love. Tina, will you pick our next person from one to 269?

Tina:

72. My daughter's birth year.

Jennifer McLean:

Beautiful. Okay.

Dee Wallace:

All right darling, much love to you.

Jennifer McLean:

Much love to you. I'd like everyone to just take a minute and just feel the love in your heart that you are. Just everyone do it. What if you could feel the love in your heart? What if you could feel the light in your heart? What if you could do that right now? Just feel the love in your heart. A way that Dee teaches how to do this is to think of the person you love the most and allow that love to come through your heart.

Dee Wallace:

Or a pet. Or a place in nature. Anything that's unconditional love.

Jennifer McLean:

Feel that in your heart right now. Feel it, watch it grow. As we watch it grow and we claim it for ourselves, we can actually see Tina in that same light. Let's just everyone see Tina in that light. That beautiful light of love. Even though she isn't able to be in that herself, we see that in her right now. We see the light that she is. We see the love that she is. We see the magnificence that she is. We see how wrong her mother was. Everyone, from the light that we are, see the light that she is. See her powerful, magnificent light. Watch her as that light. See her as that light. There we go. There's a shift happening.

Jennifer McLean:

And she might just be able to start to see what we're seeing, that she is a being of beautiful light. There we go. There's a nice shift. Beautiful, and that is just a little tiny snippet of what we do in our prayer circles. I just want to thank Tina for bringing that forward because it was so important for us to see how the mind takes control and disagrees with what our soul is telling us that we are.

Dee Wallace:

And how our little children are so indoctrinated, Jennifer. We know that our brains are locked in by eight years old. So how we were treated, whatever was modeled in front of us or taught to us verbally, that is still limiting our little children, if we have not worked with them and gotten them to trust us and move on in a more powerful way, our little children can still run the show.

Jennifer McLean:

All right. Having all these false belief and false conclusions about who we are and what life is, these children are running things in the unconscious.

Dee Wallace:

And they're trying to protect us but they're limiting us, and we need to love them and nurture them and re-parent them.

Jennifer McLean:

Yes. Beautiful. Well, that was really important and so big. Thank you, Tina. Okay, we're going to Ohio. You're on the air.

Emily:

Hi, this is Emily. Hi Dee, hi Jennifer. Thanks for all the great stuff you guys are doing.

Jennifer McLean:

Hey, Emily. Is that former client, Emily?

Emily:

Yes it is, Jenn. I'm back in DC now.

Jennifer McLean:

Well, hello Emily.

Emily:

Yes, great to talk to you. I hope you're recovering well, Jenn. You're such a trooper through all of this.

Jennifer McLean:

Thank you.

Emily:

I wanted to ask maybe more of a global question. I think I just see America divided more than ever and what would be our greatest message Dee, for helping to just heal the heart of America and bring our country back together?

Dee Wallace:

America is unified in love.

Emily:

Oh, I love that.

Dee Wallace:

America is unified in love because what you're seeing, you're creating more of, darling. Guys, you want to look away from what we call 'reality' and see the expansiveness and the peace and the love and the unity of what we want.

Dee Wallace:

When the majority of us send out that signal, that's the world we will live in. I know it sounds simple. I live it every day. My daughter lives it every day. Many of my clients have turned their lives around, close to a hundred percent, from doing what I'm talking to you about today.

Jennifer McLean:

Absolutely, and one of the things that fills the gap in a little bit, Emily, is you started by sharing that America is divided more than ever, and this is what Dee is pointing out. The opportunity now is to just step back and notice that our words are reflecting an energy of belief, when we step back and notice that moment. For example, for you, Emily, you might have said, "America is more divided than ever," and then all the people out there who nodded their heads, guess what you're all contributing? Not that that's a bad thing. The opportunity in this moment is to notice it. "Oh, my gosh. I nodded my head." I nodded my head, right? There I am. That's a revelation. That just revealed to me the vibration that I am holding, and that's the opportunity for change.

Dee Wallace:

Yes.

Jennifer McLean:

When we can stand in a moment of conscious awareness of, "Oh, my God. Someone said something that was horrible and I agreed," even internally, that's the moment that we go, "Whoa, look at what I'm believing." It's revealing, it's revelatory, it's showing what you're believing. That sentence showed you where your beliefs are and Dee showed you where your beliefs can go now from that new understanding that you've had that belief... Understandably so. There are lots of evidence, right? But that doesn't mean it's true. It's like Dee just said, "Look away from what we call reality and see the expansiveness, the peace, the love, the unity."

Dee Wallace:

And the possibility.

Jennifer McLean:

How do we do that? And possibility. How do we do that? By noticing what we're thinking now.

Emily:

This is fantastic.

Dee Wallace:

And if it's negative, reframe it into the positive, in saying "I'm a choice. I have free will. I'm choosing to focus on this now."

Jennifer McLean:

I am choice.

Emily:

Beautiful, thank you.

Dee Wallace:

You bet, sweetheart. Great question. Thank you.

Jennifer McLean:

I am free will. I'm choosing to focus on the positive. I thought that was really important. I am choice, I am free will and I'm choosing to focus on the positive and the positive is America is unified in love. Wow. Makes me cry.

Dee Wallace:

Yes.

Emily:

In love, in love.

Jennifer McLean:

America's unified in love. Amen to that. Thank you, Emily. It's lovely to hear your voice again.

Dee Wallace:

Yes. Thanks, baby.

Emily:

Likewise, ladies. Thank you so much.

Jennifer McLean:

Emily, will you pick our next person from one to 264?

Emily:

222.

Jennifer McLean:

222 it is. Thank you, love.

Dee Wallace:

222. I love it.

Jennifer McLean:

222, baby. Okay. We're going to 222. Looks like it might be Michigan. You are on the air.

Wendy:

Hi, it's Wendy.

Dee Wallace:

Hello, Wendy.

Jennifer McLean:

Oh, hey, Wendy.

Wendy:

Oh, it's so lovely, I knew I was going to be chosen. I was channeling Tina and my birthday is 1972 and she was saying her daughter's was, and I'm like, "They're going to call me."

Dee Wallace:

Good creating.

Wendy:

Right? Isn't that powerful?

Dee Wallace:

Yes. It is that easy.

Wendy:

I'm reading your book and I love it. My mom is in the midst of healing from multiple myeloma cancer and some of your research information just turned her eye on how to look at herself in this healing. That leads into my question. She's been doctoring since July and being the closest daughter, being there in love and helping her, and I basically put my life on hold, albeit working with clients here and there, I'm really struggling with stepping forward into what I create next for myself, so much so that a part of me has convinced myself, I don't know, I desire adventure. I see myself in Italy, and dancing and writing, and then I second guess myself.

Dee Wallace:

Why? Well, who taught you to second guess yourself?

Wendy:

Hm. I did.

Dee Wallace:

Yes, somebody taught you before that, though. Mom or Dad?

Wendy:

Dad. That was an easy one to answer. Yes.

Dee Wallace:

No, actually we're going to your mom.

Wendy:

Okay.

Dee Wallace:

Which is also, they're saying, the energetic source of her cancer.

Wendy:

Yes, okay.

Dee Wallace:

Well, it's a lot of the words you just used, baby. "Giving herself up to take care of other people."

Wendy:

Yes, I kept hearing martyr for her. Yes.

Dee Wallace:

This is not going to be the case with your mother. I had a good friend that just passed from cancer. For 20 years, she lived next to me and I said to her, "You have to quit giving yourself up for everybody else." And I was with her every day the week before she passed and I said, "So, Susan, what did you learn? What did you learn that you will not bring back into your next life?" And she said, "I learned to put me first."

Wendy:

Yes.

Dee Wallace:

Well, that's your answer, baby.

Wendy:

Yes. For both my mother and me, isn't it, Dee?

Dee Wallace:

Absolutely.

Wendy:

Okay.

Dee Wallace:

Now what I'm hearing is a lot of people going, "Well, that's selfish." No, because when you take care of yourself, honor yourself, love yourself and put yourself first, you have more energy, more love and more to give everyone in the world. Your cup runneth over but if, like our lovely little Tina, you keep dumping on yourself and judging yourself, then you don't have much to give because you don't have any energy left and you move into resentment.

Dee Wallace:

Okay, your job is to ask yourself, "How can I serve myself in the highest way, and in doing that, how can I serve my mother?"

Wendy:

Okay.

Dee Wallace:

Asking that question, what immediately comes in for you that you can do?

Wendy:

My hand instantly went to my heart, right? Just that extreme self-love, but in answering that question is to go again and hug my mother and take a trip.

Dee Wallace:

Yes. And if she needs help, then get her help while you're gone. If somebody else in the family needs to come in and do their part, ask them, but to go to Italy and feel guilty, is not your answer.

Wendy:

Yes, and thank you for that. Guilt hasn't come in, but hesitation has.

Dee Wallace:

Well, what's the hesitation from though? See, that's what happens when we go to our minds, guys. Your mind is made to question and doubt. Your heart will always tell you the highest answer, always. And actually, hold on that's actually how all this stuff came in, this understanding about how the signal goes out and the collective can affect our field, and how we are creating consciousness. Consciousness isn't creating us.

Dee Wallace:

It came because I doubted something that I was testing, and I tested it again and it started to go yes, no, yes, no, yes, no, and I stopped and I went, "Okay, you're teaching me something here." And they said, "Yes, we're teaching you to stay in your knowing," because when you doubt, you will get a yes, and then you will get a no, and then you will get a yes and then you will get a no, and that's the definition of staying stuck.

Wendy:

That's exactly what happens to me. That stuck, yes.

Dee Wallace:

Good. You know we're on the right track here. Okay?

Wendy:

Wow. That was powerful.

Jennifer McLean:

Very cool.

Wendy:

Thank you.

Jennifer McLean:

Very cool, Wendy.

Wendy:

Thank you, so much.

Jennifer McLean:

That was awesome. Wendy, my love, will you pick our next person from one to 259?

Wendy:

44 please.

Jennifer McLean:

44, it is. Okay. Thank you, Wendy. Thank you for bringing that forward, really. There's a comment that I will take full responsibility for. It says, "Now wait," they're saying. "Are you saying that those of us who got COVID are responsible for having got it and that means Jennifer, too? That's a bit nuts." And I want to stand right here in front of you all and say, "I am one hundred percent responsible for getting COVID. One hundred percent. I got COVID because I created the environment and the beliefs and everything in my field, whatever it is, to get it."

Jennifer McLean:

The difference is I don't think COVID is wrong or bad. I don't think I did anything wrong. I trust my soul implicitly. I trust there was a reason I got COVID. As you asked that question, I thank you for that question so that I can actually take a look at it.

Dee Wallace:

Thank you. Yes, we need more people coming forward to question all this stuff so we can really explain it.

Jennifer McLean:

We can clarify. Here's the deal. When you asked that question, I knew immediately the answer was, "Yeah, well of course I'm responsible. A hundred percent." And I realized that I put myself in a position with another person where my soul said, "Be careful," and I didn't listen. That's what happened. And now I get to say, "Wow." I get to hold some space with this other person and hold them in a slightly different way, not that I'm going to get rid of the friendship or anything. I see it as a different thing than I thought it was, and I get to hold myself in a different energy around it because you just asked that question, so thank you.

Jennifer McLean:

Did I get COVID because I'm a victim? No. Am I responsible for getting COVID? Yes. Am I being punished? No. This isn't a punishment. None of this is.

Dee Wallace:

Let me put it in scientific terms, because we all go into reaction when we hear something like this. Whatever you focus on, you draw to you and create more of, so unless you are incredibly conscious right now, all you hear on the news, all you see in the news feeds on your computer is how bad COVID is, how many people are getting COVID. They're literally pulling our focus towards what we don't want.

Dee Wallace:

Brain science is very, very clear about that. Focus only on what you want. Actually, Christ was very, very clear about that. "Think only on these things, peace, joy, love, harmony." Think only on those things and that's what you create more of. The more you love yourself in the highest way, the more you create the life you want. Just be conscious. That's all we're saying. Just really be conscious about where your focus is being drawn to.

Dee Wallace:

I'll give you a great personal example. One of my husbands... Stop laughing, Jennifer... One of my husbands wouldn't get a job and I kept saying, "The marriage is in trouble. You have to get a job. The marriage is in trouble. You have to get a job." Do you know, my work fell off the two years I was focused on him not working?

Jennifer McLean:

Mmm.

Dee Wallace:

Yeah.

Jennifer McLean:

Isn't that something?

Dee Wallace:

Interesting, huh?

Jennifer McLean:

Right. And at the same time, I can feel all the minds, because my mind would've done this before, going, "I can't control my mind. I can't control my beliefs."

Dee Wallace:

You're the only one that can, guys.

Jennifer McLean:

I mean you can't if you believe you can't.

Dee Wallace:

It's a choice.

Jennifer McLean:

It's choice. However, how I turned it around personally is that I started to use all those upsetting beliefs. I started to use those moments of beliefs that were false as a point of access now to do the work that Dee is talking about. Use it as a revelation.

Dee Wallace:

And you know, one of the easiest ways I turn it around, is I'll realize that I... Like if I'm going to an audition, "Oh, my God. I don't think I'm right for this," and I'll stop and go, "All right, Deanna Bowers," which is my given name, "you know, that thought is not going to get you what you want. You want this job. If you want to keep thinking that thought, just don't fricking go to the audition. Right now, you've got one foot in the toilet and you're ready to climb in and flush yourself down."

Dee Wallace:

By that time, I'm laughing, I'm disconnected, and then I can say, "What do I want? I am knowing that everybody in that office that I walk into looks at me and goes, 'Oh, my God. Is she perfect for this part?' That's what I want." So you can train yourself to do that. You can literally train your brain to go to the positives instead of the limiting. And your life changes, guys. It changes.

Jennifer McLean:

It changes everything and, you know, this thing with COVID with me, I keep thinking about it because I needed to see something that I wasn't going to see about this friendship unless I experienced this.

Dee Wallace:

And listening to yourself, Jenn.

Jennifer McLean:

That's right. I wasn't going to see it. One of my biggest gifts and challenges is I'm loyal to a fault and I wasn't going to see it, so they said, "Okay, COVID." The great news is that, when we get these things, again, I'm not a victim of this. I'm okay with this. I guess I'm a little scared of this, that's something I get to play and work with. I'm noticing it. But I get to realize that when we realize that, "Oh, my gosh. This is revealing something really important," then we make a new choice like Dee just said. "Let me claim something new," and then it is no longer needed or required, and it resolves itself. "I'll probably feel much better tomorrow because it's resolving."

Dee Wallace:

Another example of mine personally. I kept attracting great parts but in situations where somebody high up in the thing I was shooting, whether it was a film or a TV show, I would come to odds with and felt really disrespected. Well, after about four instances, I went, "Okay, this is a fricking pattern here," and I sat down and did the work and the channel said, "Yes, you're being disrespected because you're not respecting them." You have to have respect.

Jennifer McLean:

There you go.

Dee Wallace:

Blew my mind when I got that one. It's a process of becoming conscious, guys, but it's freedom. I promise, it's freedom.

Jennifer McLean:

It is, it is indeed.

Dee Wallace:

My little dog just went, "Huh?" My dog's name is Freedom.

Jennifer McLean:

I just want to circle back. Tina actually posted something in the forum there. She just said, "Just wanted to thank Jenn and Dee for the love, the support and the message that I can regain my power." She said, "Thank you and everyone who sent me such a powerful embrace. I love you." Thank you for that.

Dee Wallace:

Aw, that's sweet.

Jennifer McLean:

That was a shift. That was evidence of a beautiful shift.

Dee Wallace:

Yes.

Jennifer McLean:

All right. That was a little bit of a segue there, but it felt like it was important. Where are we at? Going to 44. I hope you guys are enjoying this. I sure am. All right. We're going to, looks like it might be Alberta. You are on the air.

Helene:

Hello.

Jennifer McLean:

Hey.

Helene:

Isn't that interesting? My name is Helene and I'm not sure, do you want my birthday or any other information?

Dee Wallace:

I don't need anything. Just ask me your question, baby.

Helene:

Okay. Well, the last caller, when she was talking about her and her mother, I'm kind of having the same feelings a bit where I want to move on with my life. I have kind of been helping my children.

Dee Wallace:

How old are your children?

Helene:

Adults. Like 40, 42, something like that.

Dee Wallace:

Okay, it's time for them to create themselves. You can support them, you can love them, you can guide them, and if they're adults they need to create who they are, unless there is some severe illness or some reason that they can't.

Helene:

Okay.

Dee Wallace:

I know that's tough to hear, I know. But that's what I mean. Mothers are taught to give ourselves up, to take care of everybody, but what happens when we take care of everybody is they don't learn to take care of them and create them. Okay, so keep asking your questions.

Helene:

Okay, and so now is it because that's my comfort zone or is it because it's a fear that I want to... I'm feeling like I'm ready to go do something for me.

Dee Wallace:

You are.

Helene:

But I'm not clear on what that is.

Dee Wallace:

You'll never get clear unless you commit to it. Right now, the wall that you're hitting is that you have defined yourself as a mother who keeps taking care of her kids, and until you change that definition of who you are... "I am a mother who always is supporting my children and loving my children while I move forward in creating myself powerfully." Isn't that what you want?

Helene:

Yes. I want to be the example also that they can look up to that, "Hey, mom followed her passion."

Dee Wallace:

But then you're still doing it for them. I want you to do it for you.

Helene:

Oh.

Dee Wallace:

Oh, yes. Light bulb. My daughter said to me the other night... We were talking about something personal that she's going through.

Dee Wallace:

And I said, "Look, I want to make sure that you don't get into something financial that everybody can't participate in." She said, "Mom, I will never do what you've done in your life around that." I went, "Okay!" Guess I taught her pretty well. Smack me in the chops. But that's exactly what she should be doing, I'm not going to do the limiting things that you've done.

Dee Wallace:

And I've told her all her life, take all my powerful things, all my teachings, all my love, everything that's powerful about me and all the limitations and the fears, they're not yours to own. Create a different story around those, not yours to own. I'm saying that to you. Most of our mothers gave up who they were for something. For the war, for their kids, for their husbands because they had to work. I want you to clearly define who you want to be. I talk about this a lot in my new book, Born - how we define ourselves is so incredibly important. So, I am the powerful God of, that is creating, right now, and make a list of everything you want.

Helene:

Okay, and I'm not sure if maybe that's why I'm not moving forward, is it a fear of going...

Dee Wallace:

No, it's not a fear. It's how you've defined who you are, darling. "I am a mother that gives up herself to take care of her children, no matter what the hell age they are," right?

Helene:

Yes.

Dee Wallace:

Well, you've got to change that definition, baby.

Helene:

It's like I think I'm going on to do my own thing and then they call for help and support, and then I shift right away towards there and I drop everything and I put my life on hold.

Dee Wallace:

Yes, that's kind of the definition of a mother unless we create a different definition. I asked my daughter to do something for me the other day and she said, "I don't really have time." I said, "Well, I have time for you when you call." She said, "Yes, to the detriment of you a lot of times." I said, "Okay, I'm going to use that the next time you call." But she was right. I taught her so well that I want to smack her in the face sometimes.

Helene:

Okay, cool saying that.

Dee Wallace:

You've got to go create you, Helene. If not now, when? 20 years from now? I don't think so. Go create you, baby.

Helene:

Yes.

Dee Wallace:

They will learn to take care of themselves. You see, what's happening now is you've enabled them, and that's not teaching them their own power, is it? And isn't that what a mother most wants to do, is teach their kids how powerful they are?

Jennifer McLean:

To say to you what Dee's daughter says to her. Wouldn't that be cool?

Helene:

Yes.

Jennifer McLean:

Thanks Helene, for bringing this up.

Dee Wallace:

Yeah, thanks Helene. That was a great conversation.

Jennifer McLean:

Very beautiful. Can you pick our next member, Helene. From one to 256.

Helene:

188.

Jennifer McLean:

188? Lovely, thank you. Before we go any further, I want to mention that the offer Dee has. If you go to www.deeoffer.com, this is kind of a once in a lifetime thing. She did a powerful workshop with Dolores Cannon. And it's about Past, Present, and Future Lives. It's an empowering two-day event. It's available to you now and on recording. You'll never ever get this opportunity again.

Dee Wallace:

And she's amazing guys. She was one of the quintessential past life regressionists in the world.

Jennifer McLean:

Just imagine her doing something like this with Dee's insights. Holy crap, this thing is so cool. As you said, the premier post life progressions in the world, and she leads a group into lifetimes that offer clarity and understanding of blocks that might have been created before. The things that are sabotaging the intention now, and it's really, really a cool, incredible value. On top of that, she's also offering one of her amazing web shops, which is, How to Change the Brain Through Conscious Intention. This is a lot of what we talked about here. If you want more clarity, then check this out. She's going to talk about why the brain keeps focusing on the past, why it's easiest to retrain our brains. Why does fear limit the brain and what is best tool to bring our brains past fear into empowerment?

Jennifer McLean:

Why do our brains believe we're not our own creators? And how do we retrain that? How do we create brains that trust? Again, a lot of the questions that have come up as you've been listening to Dee today are answered in that amazing session. Then there's this other complimentary one, which is about this Spirituality and Brain Science: Breaking Down the Formula. The formula is something that she uses. It's a formula for creation and pairing it with the science to really get a concrete understanding. If your mind is in any way confused by any of this, then take that course. I can't believe you got us Dolores Cannon - such a rare gem. It's such great price. Thank you for that.

Dee Wallace:

Yeah, it really is a great offer. And, Jenn, that's my first intention - to serve.

Jennifer McLean:

Yes.

Dee Wallace:

Especially for you, I love putting together really special things.

Jennifer McLean:

Yes. Wow, this is really cool. We've got another comment from that person about COVID that they've taken real deep offense now to me, because COVID is serious and she's had friends that are dead. That have been killed by it. Oh, my God. I did not mean to minimize COVID at all. And someone else said that it shows that COVID isn't that bad because I'm doing this. No, none of that is proof of anything. I got COVID because I got COVID. I'm triple fricking vaccinated. And I took the monoclonal antibodies and I'm still sick. If I hadn't done that, it probably would have taken me out. I'm not saying that COVID isn't serious. It fricking serious as hell, take precautions.

Jennifer McLean:

I've been holed up in my house for two full years. I never go out without a mask. I made a mistake and I got it. And I know that there's more to it than just me making a mistake. But I take responsibility, is what I'm saying. It's not that the people who left the planet didn't, it just means that everyone has an amazing soul path. I'm sorry that I offended you, but, and I'm not sorry.

Dee Wallace:

Well, wait a minute, Jenn.

Jennifer McLean:

And I'm also really exhausted in this moment.

Dee Wallace:

Yes, but wait a minute. I have to intercede here. I know I'm on thin ice here, and I don't care. It is not your fault that you offended her. It is her reaction to everything that is creating her offense. This is a really important lesson for everyone to understand. When you are in reaction, you are out of creation. I had somebody in my family call the other day and was expressing that somebody else in the family felt unfulfilled, and that they felt really guilty and bad. I said, it's not your responsibility to create someone else feeling fulfilled. So lovingly, I want to get to the highest thing that's creating her reaction because this is where the big gift is. Is this all right if I go forward with this, Jennifer?

Jennifer McLean:

Yes, please.

Dee Wallace:

Okay, sheets, book, song. Well, is there any way that you can connect with her so she could give us a movie? If not, the channel will take one from you. Any movie that pops in.

Jennifer McLean:

It'll take too long for her.

Dee Wallace:

Okay, so you give me.

Jennifer McLean:

West Side Story.

Dee Wallace:

West Side Story, okay. Again, West Side Story is all about two sides, battling each other and keeping the force of love at bay and making everybody pay for it. We cannot live in a world where we are struggling against each other, guys. It's not possible anymore. We have come to the end of that possibility. And they told me there was really big news that would come in today. And this is it. We cannot and will not. The world will demise itself, bring upon its own demise. If we keep focused on the struggle... Now, those of you that have been with Jenn and I for a long time, when I spoke about COVID much, much, much earlier when it made its first appearance, the channel said, "The energetic base of COVID is a fear that 'I have no control.'" Going back to West Side Story, the two gangs were fighting each other for the control of the streets.

Dee Wallace:

And two people, one from each side, came together in love. That's the message. We must come together in love and stop being in fear that we have no control because we have all the control, but not if we keep thinking we have to fight and struggle with each other. There's another point that the channel wants to make that no one leaves without choice. On some level, no soul leaves without choice. As Abraham Hick says, "Every death is a suicide because every soul chooses when it has to leave." Now, Jenn and I know that there are a few openings where people can choose to leave, but ultimately they choose to leave. And our job is to honor their choice of when they want to. Do you have anything to add to that, Jenn?

Jennifer McLean:

No, that was brilliant. Well, I guess I do one thing which is, when my sister had her accident and she was essentially gone, but the doctor didn't officially say yet that. All I kept saying is, this a new sentence, a new mantra came up for me, which is, "I trust your soul. I trust your soul's decisions and choices."

Dee Wallace:

Yes. That's our job. Not to judge.

Jennifer McLean:

That's what that woman can say to the soul of her children, "I trust your soul. I trust my soul." That's all we can do.

Dee Wallace:

And as the book on the I am Presence says, "I release you to your own divine, I am Presence." And "I am Presence" is our creative force. "I release you to your own creation to your own divine, I am Presence, while I create me in the highest way I can." Wow, what a beautiful close, huh?

Jennifer McLean:

Yes, thank you so much. And I realized that I actually did go into some reaction there and I realized that...

Dee Wallace:

Well, Jenn, we love everybody on our calls. We unconditionally love you. And there's no way we would want to offend or upset you in any way. And our job is to speak the highest truth to you. That's why you called. And if we don't do that, we are letting you down.

Jennifer McLean:

Yes.

Dee Wallace:

You okay, Jenn?

Jennifer McLean:

Yes, I'll be okay.

Dee Wallace:

I love you.

Jennifer McLean:

Thank you, Dee. I love you, too.

Dee Wallace:

And I'm just saying to this whole community, this place that Jenn has created is sacred. You will learn so much and grow so much. Please join us. It's an amazing opportunity in your life.

Jennifer McLean:

Yeah, thanks. And as you can see, we grow too.

Dee Wallace:

Yeah. Every day, every moment.

Jennifer McLean:

Every day, every moment we grow from you. Thank you for the conversation, the discussion. There is a question about your special offer. No, she did it when Dolores was alive. She did not channel Dolores through.

Dee Wallace:

No, it's on camera. It's a two-day workshop on camera.

Jennifer McLean:

On camera. It's really a rare, wonderful opportunity. I'm definitely going to get it. Because I want to see this amazing workshop with Dee in this genius, who I suspect is probably still bringing some energy to us all.

Dee Wallace:

Oh, for sure.

Jennifer McLean:

Dee Wallace, I love you. Thank you so much for holding such amazing space as I kind of did my little trip into reaction. Thank you.

Dee Wallace:

We all do it, Jenn. We all do it. My God, how many times have you been there for me, dude?

Jennifer McLean:

I just get to do it in front of thousands.

Dee Wallace:

Yeah, well, but they learn from that.

Jennifer McLean:

Yes.

Dee Wallace:

They learn, we all learn. We all learn from questioning and challenging and coming together with the highest intention of knowing the truth.

Jennifer McLean:

Indeed, amen to that. Thank you. What a beautiful, incredible session.

Jennifer McLean:

Thank you, Dee Wallace. Bye, bye everyone.

Dee Wallace:

Love you. Bye.
